

Kerri Fletcher

Title of Poster Presentation: A Quantitative Study of Student Retention

Abstract:

As a part of a summer research program at Pacific Lutheran University, we conducted a quantitative study of student retention at PLU using past eight years of student entry, graduation, and withdrawal data. Approaches for our study include hypothesis testing, regression analysis, as well as risk assessment. Our findings will be of interest to both researchers and university administrators.